

AWARDS

Crew S-01 receives the Third Air Division Top Three Award

TOP: Al Smith, Leo Johnson, Jim Bookie, and Bill Simon receive Educational Awards. John Gault gets an Air Medal

BOTTOM: Lee Holbert gets an Air Medal. More Air Medals

Frank Hicks, Harry Moore, Ken Stoop, and Wayne Winkelmann receive Air Medals

Col Murphy, Kadena Air Base Commander, gets an 82nd SRS Hoggie plaque

1000th Combat Apple
July 4th, 1969

On 4 July 1969, Crew E-03M Commanded by Major Victor T. Prislusky flew the 1000th Combat Apple mission. On board the flight were LtCol Robert L. Nicholl, 82nd SRS Commander, and LtCol Doyle Larson, 6990th Security Squadron Commander. This mission marked over 18,000 hours flown by the 82nd in direct support of South East Asia operations.

LtCol Nicholl accepts the Commanders Trophy for athletic achievement from Col Murphy. The base commander.

Bob Knightly does the "Congrats" on completing 100 Missions

L/C Morss and Aylsworth promoted to O-6!! Well deserved!

L/C Bob Nicholl is congratulated for something...original caption lost

Crews E-04 and E-05 receive 3rd AD "Top Three" awards.

Joel Lutkenhouse, Barrie Hammond, and Marc Smith receive DFC's from Col Harvey

Caption missing

S-02 receives the 3rd AD "Top Three" Award

L/C Pike receives the AFCM

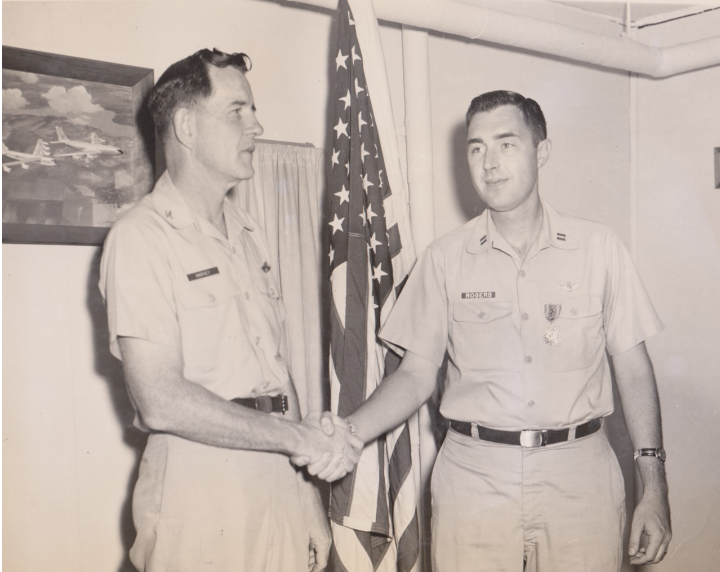

LtCol Nicholl receives a memento

Crew E-03 receives the "Top Three" Award

Air Medal presented to Dave Connaughton

Bob Rogers receives an Air Medal

Dan Curzon and Jim Bookie receive the Air Medal

Max Moore, Greg Krosnoff, John Perrizo, Tom Harris, Dave Frutchet, and Jim Baber receive the Air Medal

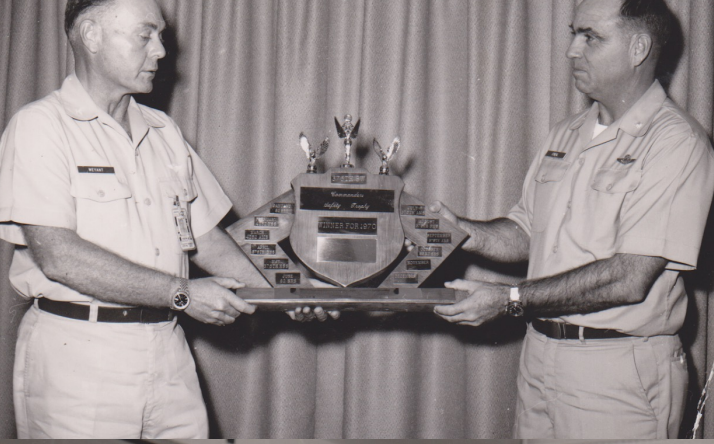

Bobby Russell gets another Air Medal

U.S. AIR FORCE

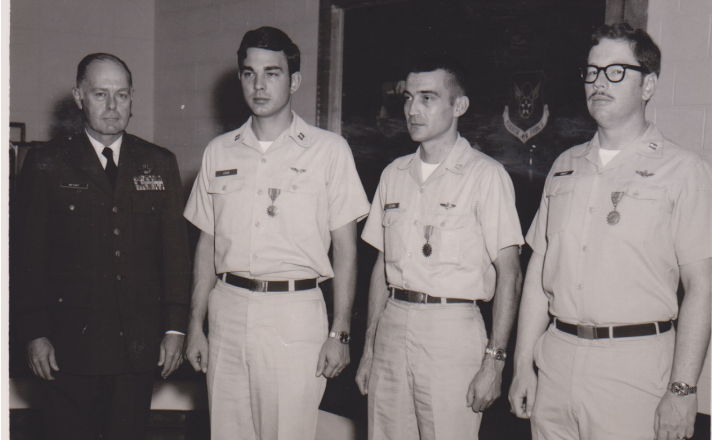

Walt Schrecker receives an Air Medal

P.T. Cullen Trophy Presentation
March 1971

KADENA, OKINAWA

FEB. 17

82nd, 6971st, SP's win Commander's Trophy

For the second straight year, the 82nd Strategic Reconnaissance Squadron and 6971st Support Squadron have won the Commander's Trophy for the small and large squadrons and large and small sports respectively.

The Commander's Trophy for varsity sports was awarded to the 824th Security Police Squadron.

Allen W. Carver Sr., base commander, presented the trophies to the squadron winners last Friday at Kadena Air Base. The trophies are presented to the officer's commanders of the 82nd and 6971st squadrons.

The trophies, established to encourage a high degree of fitness and to instill a sense of squadron spirit in individual and base athletics, encourage maximum participation and assure a high standard of competition. They are presented to the respective squadron commanders.

Presenting for security police is Maj. Edward R. Barkley, while Lt. Col. Ray O'Neal and Capt. Leroy Elstrom are presenting for the 82nd and 6971st squadrons respectively.

the squadron.

In intramural competition, the evaluation of the trophy winner is done by a point system. In team sports, 50 points are awarded to each squadron fielding a team, with an additional 50, 30, 20 and 10 points earned for a first, second, third or fourth place finish in the league.

This year the 6971st accumulated 865 points while the 82nd had 825.

In individual sports like squash or handball, five points is awarded for each entrant, not to exceed four men and 25, 15, 10 and five points for first thru fourth place finishing.

This year, the 6927th Security Group finished runner-up in the large squadron while the 824th Dispensary took second place honors in the small.

The separation between small and large squadrons is made at 250 assigned and attached personnel. The assigned and attached personnel of both groups are noted at the beginning of each athletic year and remain as such for the whole year.

In varsity sports, squadrons are awarded points by the number of members from that squadron participating on a varsity team and how long they stay with the team.

PERPETUAL TROPHY — Lt. Col. Ray O'Neal, left, 82nd Strategic Reconnaissance commander, accepts the Base Commander's Trophy for small squadron sports from Col. Allen W. Carver, Sr., base commander. The 6971st Support Squadron and the 824th Security Police Squadron were awarded the Commander's Trophy for the small and large squadrons and varsity sports Commander's Trophies respectively.

(U.S. Air Force Photo)